

4/24/10 Event: DayONE Users Group Event at Convergence

The SL User Group Event on Saturday, April 24th in Atlanta, GA will be part of the opening day of Microsoft Convergence. Our events begin at 1:30 pm.

The Dynamics SL User Group will be holding sessions from 1:30 to 5:30 on Saturday April 24th in the convention center. The sessions will be open to members and non members. Take advantage of this opportunity to network with other SL customers. We will announce the dates and location of the fall 2010 User Group Conference. Will share with you user led sessions at Convergence that you won't want to miss. We will provide concurrent training sessions. Specific details to follow shortly. The SL user group is committed to providing sessions that help you use your technology to deliver the results you need. Our group is diverse, members range from C level to accounting and IT professionals. Some members are SL experts and others are fairly new to the product. Everyone has something to learn and something to share. Come be a part of our community.
